Film: The Third Harmony

This film explores the important role that nonviolence plays in the wider struggle to develop a new theory of human nature, how every one of us can add to our personal growth and fulfillment while benefiting society through the use of this time-tested power.

Film Discussion

In addition to Michael Nagler, director of The Third Harmony, joining us via Zoom immediately following the film, the evening will conclude with a discussion on conflict resolution with Bill Warters, former director and retired Academic Director of Wayne State University's Master of Arts in Dispute Resolution program.
